Dear South Brunswick Community,

I am reaching out to you today regarding the nationwide school threats that are circulating on social media for tomorrow, Friday, December 17th. We are sharing this information with you out of caution and do not want to add any credibility to these generic threats and rumors.

I must stress that we have absolutely no evidence of any kind relating to the South Brunswick School District, but it is important that we continue to work together to ensure the safety of our students and staff. As a precaution, we are working with the South Brunswick Police Department, as they are aware of these generic nationwide threats and will provide support as necessary.

Lastly, I once again ask for your assistance by speaking to your children to help underscore the importance of reporting any concerns relating to school safety. As previously shared in my recent communication, please encourage your children that if they “see something, say something.”

We will continue to share any additional information as necessary, but just wanted everyone to be aware that we know of this newest nationwide social media post and as always the safety of our students and staff remains our utmost priority.

Be well,

Scott
