SBHS gives in this ‘Season of Giving’

‘Adopt’ a needy South Brunswick family for the holidays. This wonderful program provides holiday gifts for children in the community who otherwise would receive nothing.

This year we have adopted 17 families with 34 children! If your child is not a member of one of the groups that has ‘adopted’, please consider participating through our Giving Trees by contributing gift cards for Stop and Shop, Target or local gas stations. The trees will be on display during December, but you don’t need to wait, just have your student bring their gift card to Gina Welsh, Activities Coordinator in the Activities Office room 109 in the Annex. Cards in envelopes clearly marked ‘Ms. Welsh’ can also be dropped off at main reception area.

All gift cards will be distributed to qualified needy South Brunswick families through the SB Social Services Department.

Your generosity is greatly appreciated.

Happy ‘Season of Giving’ to all!

sbEarth, the environmental club of SBHS, has had a busy start to the year. For the past few years, the club has helped to maintain and improve the flower beds at the front entrance of the high school. In October nineteen club members, aided by advisor Jane Rothfuss and Mr. Peter Varela, principal of the high school, planted 20 new fall plants including mums and daises. The club spent $80 of its own funds to purchase the plants, and the tools were provided by Mrs. Rothfuss and the SBHS custodial department. sbEarth hopes everyone has noticed and enjoyed the additional color at the front entrances!

Good Things @ the SBHS Library

Our Viking Challenge reading contest will return for the third year as, Viking Challenge: B.E.T. you can’t read just one. All Viking Challenge titles will connect to Business Engineering and Technology. We invite our faculty, staff, and students to recommend a fiction or non-fiction book that connects with our theme. Recommended titles will be available for student check out alongside a brief description of why the recommender nominated each selection. If you’re looking to expand your reading list, round out your high school resume, or just want to foster your competitive spirit, this challenge is for you! Write and submit a book recommendation today. For more information, visit our wiki page at http://sbhslibrarywiki.wikispaces.com/Viking-Challenge. To kick off the Viking Challenge with our students, the librarians served tea to students and staff on Thursday, November 20th.

In December, all 9th grade HAP students will visit the library for a lesson with the librarians on plagiarism. Using the Chromebooks, students will examine real world examples of plagiarism and bookmark recommended resources to help them avoid similar violations. Building on the existing ninth grade plagiarism unit delivered by our English team, the library lesson will help students to recognize that ideas taken from other sources, whether or not these ideas are expressed in direct quotes, must be cited. The shared resources are posted here http://sbhslibrary-wiki.wikispaces.com/9th+Grade+HAP+Lesson+Links.

Students with specific questions on plagiarism, in-text citation, or general MLA formatting concerns can make an appointment with a librarian for additional help.

If you have any questions please contact our librarians, Lisa Manganello and Erin Chamberlain.
Club Fair a Success

Our Annual Club Fair was held during all lunches on September 24th and was well attended, especially by our freshmen. Most of our clubs and organizations were represented by their officers and it was great to see students helping students to get involved. Clubs are off to a great start this year and many are still open to new members.

Powder Puff

The 14th Annual Powder Puff Game will be held on November 22nd at 6:00 p.m. Students from each class will decorate the halls, practice strategies, create cheers, and prepare for the battle of the classes. Proceeds will benefit the South Brunswick Food Pantry and select other charities. Join us for a little competition, good food, and a ton of fun!

Target Donates to SBHS

REMEMBER to use your Target credit card and SBHS students will reap the benefits.

At no cost to the cardholders – designate South Brunswick High School as the school you wish to receive funds on your behalf.

There are three ways to do this:
* Internet – Target.com/tcoe
* In-store kiosk
* Call 1-800-316-6142

Shop at your favorite Target store and charge your purchases on your REDcard. Target will donate up to 1% of all purchases made by South Brunswick High School parents, teachers and community members to our school twice a year.

Global Studies Acts Globally

While studying about the United Nations, the students in Mrs. Welsh’s Junior Global Studies Classes got into the Halloween spirit and voluntarily collected $336 for UNICEF - the United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund! Trick-or-Treat for UNICEF began in 1950 as a way to help children who need more than candy. Since then, kids across the USA have raised more than $170 million for UNICEF. The organization makes sure that 91.2 cents of every dollar spent goes directly to help children. According to UNICEF figures, the $336 collect at SBHS will provide vaccinations for 10,080 children or clean, safe drinking water for one child for 13,440 days!

Student Council supports a Cause-A-Month

With each new month, Student Council benefits a new charity. September began with Ovarian and Prostate Cancer Awareness. Students wore teal or light blue on September 24th to show their support. Donations were collected and facts were posted around the school to raise awareness.

October was dedicated to raising Breast Cancer Awareness. Supporters wore pink on October 30th, donated money, and bought various items such as T-shirts, socks, sunglasses and gloves.

Thank you for all of your help!
Helping Your Child Cope with Stress

Stress does not discriminate. Adults struggle with it and so do kids. Stress can come from many sources such as: too many commitments, pressure of more demanding school work and testing, family and cultural expectations, social media, family conflict, negative thoughts and feelings about oneself or peer relationships. Unlike adults, kids have not yet had the experience and developed the skills to manage their stress. Kids can often become overwhelmed and end up dealing with their stress in unhealthy ways. Unchecked, stress can lead to depression, anxiety and substance abuse, among other things. Parents can help by monitoring their teen to determine if stress is affecting him/her.

Here are some tips to assist your child in managing stress:

Over scheduling
These days kid’s schedules are more than full of activities and commitments and as adults, we also fall prey to this. Too much on anyone’s plate is not an effective way to get things done with any level of quality. Everyone needs down time, and kids especially need time to rejuvenate by resting both their bodies and minds.

Encourage your kids to pay attention to their bodies
Kids bodies send messages to them regularly about when they are stressed out. A pattern of headaches, stomachaches and trouble sleeping are signs that the body is overwhelmed and needs attention. The mind-body connection is real, and if a kid is very stressed then it is not unusual to see these signs. Encourage regular eating and exercise to minimize their stress levels.

Sleep
Sleep needs to be a priority. It is especially important for a developing child. It helps a child’s immune system, improves a child’s brain development and correlates to school performance. Assist your child by helping him/her reduce commitments and develop a realistic schedule that includes time for enough sleep. Remove any distractions from sleep such as any electronic devices.

Listen to your child
Create an atmosphere where your child feels he/she can share his/her feelings. Support your child by communicating that you value his/her feelings. Events and situations that seem trivial to adults can be very stressful to a kid. Take your child’s feelings seriously.

Mistakes
It is important to help your kids take responsibility and accept mistakes. Stress can often come from a fear of not meeting expectations and being ‘perfect.’ Making mistakes is a part of life. Mistakes are a way kids learn and develop skills to make good decisions, problem solve and grow into adulthood. By encouraging independence and allowing children to make their own mistakes, they will be better able to deal with life’s challenges.

Parental stress
Raising your family and providing for them can cause stress. You also need to pay attention to your stress level and how you are managing it. You are role models for managing stress. Kids need to see and feel that you are handling stress well. In order to help your child you need to first help yourself.

A calm atmosphere
When home is chaotic, disorganized and conflicted, everyone feels the stress. It is important whenever possible to set a tone of calm in order to best limit the stress level and deal more effectively with it. Help your child learn to relax and breath.

Play
Play is extremely important for both the mind and body. Play needs to occur without pressure or competition. It has been shown to be critical to developing one’s mind and general well being.

Nurses Corner : Getting Ready for Flu Season

Do I have the flu? Is it just a cold? The flu season is starting, so it’s time to think about what to do if you develop a cold or the flu.

The flu, or influenza, is a respiratory infection caused by a virus, and the common cold is another illness also caused by a virus. They both have some shared symptoms such as runny or stuffy noses, sore throats, and coughs. So how can you tell if you have the dreaded flu?

When you have the flu you usually develop a high fever (unlike with a cold). You will also have muscle aches, headaches, and body aches with the flu. Your flu symptoms may last 4-5 days but you may be feeling tired and weak for two weeks or more.

If you believe you or your child has the flu see your doctor. You will need to treat the symptoms you are experiencing. For example, if you have a high fever and headache Ibuprofen or Tylenol may help. Get plenty of rest, increase your fluids, and yes have some chicken soup! It may not be just an old folk remedy. Recent research by the Nebraska Medical Center has shown chicken soup may shorten a sick persons symptoms.

One of the concerns with the flu is that it is very contagious and can spread quickly. Since the flu is spread by droplets, the virus can spread around by uncovered sneeze or cough resulting in contaminated tables, door knobs, water fountains, pens, pencils, and yes the mouse in your house can also carry the virus. It is essential to disinfect any of these items to prevent the spread of the virus. Be cautious that you are not using a sanitizer instead of a disinfectant. Sanitizers lower the amount of germs, but disinfectants actually kill them.

Preventing the flu may be as simple as washing your hands well and using an alcohol based hand sanitizer. Avoid contact with sick people and avoid touching your eyes, nose, or mouth. Do not share drinks or food. If you sneeze cover your sneeze with your forearm not your hands. The most important prevention practice is to rest at home when experiencing symptoms.
Students participate in Clean Ocean Action’s annual fall Beach Sweep

Nine students from sbEarth, along with teachers Susan Goldfarb and Jane Rothfuss, traveled to Island Beach State Park and spent a beautiful fall day at the beach on October 25.

First, the students participated in Clean Ocean Action’s annual fall Beach Sweep to help pick up litter and waste from the beach and bay shoreline. Every fall and spring, beach sweeps are held all over New Jersey and volunteers collect data about what is found, to be used to support policy changes and to identify problems. The SBHS students were surprised to find a large number of pieces of plastic on the beach, as well as balloons, lumber, string, cups, caps and other items left behind by bathers or washed up on the beach.

After working on the beach sweep and lunch, the students were led on a beach and bay walk by a naturalist from the park, who also talked to the students about her education pathway from Ocean County Community College to Rutgers University, to a degree in ecology. Then the students were given the treat of seining in the bay. All nine sbEarth club members donned waders for the first time in their lives and went into the bay with a seining net, which is dragged along the bottom to capture marine life. The students were excited to see they caught silversides, pipe fish, crabs, shrimp, sponges and other life forms, which were released to return to the bay waters.

PTO

The holidays are fast approaching with a new year right around the corner, it seems as though time is flying right by! The PTO at SBHS works to support the students and staff at the school in several different ways. We assist the staff during conferences by supplying dinner between afternoon and evening sessions, provide treats for staff appreciation week and in any other capacity we can.

For the students, we support the Viking Closet, where any student can turn, no questions asked, for apparel items, our Project Graduation Committee works hard to provide an alcohol, drug and tobacco free all night graduation celebration for our seniors at little or no cost to students. Please support at least one of their fundraisers this year. We also work hard to provide several $500 scholarships to our graduating seniors each year. We rely mainly on our memberships in order to do this, so please be sure to send in your membership before the December 31 deadline!

We would love some new fresh ideas for raising money for the scholarship fund! If you have an idea you’d like to share with us, please send us an email at PTO_SBHS@sbparents.org. In order to do all of this, WE NEED YOUR SUPPORT!

We are a non-profit 501c3 organization that can only support our students through your generosity. If you are looking for a place to make a tax deductible donation, please consider supporting us.

Wishing you all a healthy and happy New Year!

Thank you,
Chris Resnick,
PTO President

Viking Closet News

The Viking Closet is off to a fantastic start! We received many Back to School items thanks to our great community, students and staff. We held our first ever Viking Closet Club Bake sale on Thursday, November 20th. It helped raise much needed funds for the Viking Closet.

Our 4th Annual Prom Dress drive will be from January 5th through February 5th. Please bring your donations to the front main lobby of the high school during that time. Please tell your friends, coworkers and family about the drive. The event is only as big as the amount of dresses we receive. During that time we will also be collecting any prom related accessories, i.e. purses, shoes, jewelry, makeup, and gift certificates. The actual Prom Event, “The Sisterhood of the Traveling Prom Dresses” will be held on Saturday, February 7th, 2015.

The past three Prom Events brought an abundance and variety of dresses. At the close of those events, we were able to donate the surplus of dresses to other school districts. With kindness, compassion and heart, this year we will open our event to other high schools in the extended Brunswick area. The first two hours of the event will be open to SBHS students only, whereas the last four hours will be open to SBHS students, as well as these other invited high schools.

Please help make this Prom Event even more incredible than the past three years. Your generous donations make it possible for many students to attend prom without the financial burden that comes with it. Please consider asking your daughters to donate their old prom dresses for a great cause. Their dresses have the ability to make brand new happy memories for others. Thank you in advance for all your donations!

Lastly, if your child is in need of community service hours, please have them see Ms. Webb in Room B310 as the Viking Closet needs daily assistance. Students can come during their HAP with a pass, during their lunch, or afterschool if there is a staff person present and available.

Lemelson- MIT InvenTeam 2015

We are proud to announce that South Brunswick High School is one of 15 schools nationwide to receive the Lemelson MIT Inventeam award. This program is funded by the Lemelson Foundation and administered by MIT’s School of Engineering. The Lemelson Foundation uses the power of invention to improve lives, by inspiring and enabling the next generation of inventors and invention based enterprises to promote economic growth in the US and social and economic progress for the poor in developing countries.

This award is a recognition of the ability and desire of an educator at the school (Dr. Rajagopal) to encourage youth to invent and develop hands-on skills in Science, Technology, Engineering and Math (STEM), and to work with young inventors to conceptualize, design and build a working prototype to solve a real-world problems.

In order to win this award, the educator along with a team of students sends in an application outlining an invention that they want to build. A prestigious panel of judges composed of educators and researchers from MIT and Harvard University, industry representatives, MIT faculty and alumni, professional inventors and engineers and former Lemelson-MIT Program Award winners review the applications and select 15 grant recipients. They are selected based on ingenuity and demonstrated potential in creative thinking.

The team of students under the supervision of Dr. Rajagopal will spend the next seven months working on their inventions and completing working prototypes. A final report, including a working prototype and documentation, is due in June, when the teams go to Massachusetts Institute of Technology (MIT) campus in Cambridge, Mass. to participate in an invention showcase event, the InvenTeams Odyssey.

Our project goal is to develop and build a proximity sensor and alert system for automobile doors. This device will "sense" bicyclists and pedestrians as an automobile door is opened and trigger a signal that will prevent collisions and increase safety.

The following is a press release that announced our school’s achievement: http://www.businesswire.com/news/home/20141015005127/en/High-School-Teams-Receive-Lemelson-MIT-InvenTeam%E2%84%A2-Grant#.VD5vlPldVqU
